INTERNATIONAL TRADE ADMINISTRATION ACT, 2002(ACT NO. 71 OF 2002)*INVITATION FOR PUBLIC COMMENT ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE INTERNATIONAL TRADE ADMINISTRATION ACT, 2002

I, Mpho Parks Tau, MP, Minister of Trade, Industry and Competition, hereby publish for public comment proposed amendments to the International Trade Administration Act, 2002 (Act No. 71 of 2002).

The proposed amendments seek to refine, update and strengthen the legislative framework governing the investigative, administrative and enforcement functions of the International Trade Administration Commission of South Africa (the Commission). The amendments take into account the Commission's operational experience, developments in international trade practice, and the need to enhance the effective administration of the Act. The proposed amendments include, amongst others, targeted changes grouped around the following key themes:

1. International trade-related measures

The proposed amendments introduce new provisions enabling the Commission, upon direction of the Minister, to investigate imports that may adversely affect the national security interests of the Republic. Additional provisions empower the Commission, upon Ministerial direction, to investigate discriminatory or unreasonable foreign trade practices that adversely affect South Africa's trade or economic interests.

2. Improvements to the investigative framework

Several amendments enhance the Commission's investigative and decision-making processes. These include provisions allowing for the consolidation of related applications or matters; the express consideration of public-interest factors in investigations; a clearer statutory framework governing reciprocal commitments by applicants; and authority for the Minister to suspend the imposition of duties where appropriate.

3. Enhanced enforcement and compliance mechanisms

The proposed amendments strengthen the Commission's enforcement powers by clarifying authority relating to entry, search and inspection, including procedures for handling confidential information. New provisions provide for the disposal of seized goods where criminal proceedings are not instituted. An administrative penalty regime is introduced for specified contraventions, and criminal offences relating to illegal trade, falsified documentation and interference with investigations are expanded and clarified.

4. Administrative and technical refinements

Finally, the proposed amendments modernise and clarify various administrative provisions of the Act. These include refinements to the Commission's powers relating to permits, certificates, rebates and drawbacks; enhanced verification powers; and clarification of the circumstances under which permits and certificates may be amended, suspended or cancelled. These changes address operational challenges and improve the clarity and effective administration of the Act.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on the proposed amendments which must be submitted within four (4) weeks of the date of publication of this notice in the Government Gazette.

Written comments must be submitted by e-mail, clearly marked "Comments on Proposed Amendments to the International Trade Administration Act, 2002" in the subject line, and addressed to:

(Commencement date of s. 31: To be proclaimed)

32. Consideration of alleged dumping and subsidised exports

- (1) Despite section 1, in this section–
- (a) “export” means to bring or send goods, or to cause them to be brought or sent, into the Common Customs Area from a country or territory outside the Common Customs Area; and

- (b) “exporter” means any person who brings or sends goods, or causes them to be brought or sent, into the Common Customs Area from a country or territory outside the Common Customs Area.
- (2) For the purpose of considering an application alleging the dumping or subsidised export of goods into the Common Customs Area-
- (a) “export price”, subject to subsections (3) and (5), means the price actually paid or payable for goods sold for export, net of all taxes, discounts and rebates actually granted and directly related to that sale;
 - (b) “normal value”, in respect of any goods, means-
 - (i) the comparable price paid or payable in the ordinary course of trade for like goods intended for consumption in the exporting country or country of origin; or
 - (ii) in the absence of information on a price contemplated in subparagraph (i), either-
 - (aa) the constructed cost of production of the goods in the country of origin when destined for domestic consumption, plus a reasonable addition for selling, general and administrative costs and for profit; or
 - (bb) the highest comparable price of the like product when exported to an appropriate third or surrogate country, as long as that price is representative;

 - (i) has provided-
 - (aa) any form of financial aid;

 - (d) “public body” includes a person or body that acts on behalf of the government of, or another public body within, a country.

- (3) The Commission must, in determining the margin of dumping of goods, make reasonable allowance for differences in conditions and terms of sale, differences in taxation and other differences affecting price comparability.
- (4) If the Commission, when evaluating an application concerning dumping, concludes that the normal value of the goods in question is, as a result of government intervention or a particular market situation in the exporting country or country of origin, not determined according to free market principles, the Commission may apply to those goods a normal value of the goods, established in respect of a third or surrogate country.
 - (5) The Commission must, despite the definition of “export price” set out in subsection (2), when evaluating an application concerning dumping that meets the criteria set out in subsection (6), determine the export price for the goods in question on the basis of the price at which the imported goods are first resold to an independent buyer, if applicable, or on any reasonable basis.
- (6) Subsection (5) applies to any investigation of dumping if, in respect of the goods concerned-
 - (a) there is no export price as contemplated in the definition of dumping;
 - (b) there appears to be an association or compensatory arrangement in respect of the export price between the exporter or foreign manufacturer concerned and the importer or the third party concerned; or

 - (b) in the case of other information, determine whether the information should be recognised as confidential.
- (2) If, upon considering a claim in terms of subsection (1)(a), the Commission determines that the information is not, by nature, confidential –
 - (a) the Commission must invite the claimant to submit a further motivation for the information to be recognised as otherwise confidential; and
 - (b) if the claimant submits such a motivation within the prescribed time, the Commission must reconsider the claim in terms of subsection (1)(b).
- (3) Upon making a final determination in terms of subsection (1) or (2)(b), the Commission –
 - (a) must notify the claimant in writing of its determination; and

 - (ii) should be recognised as being otherwise confidential; and
 - (b) if it determines that it is confidential, make any appropriate order concerning access to that confidential information.

36. Disclosure of information

- (1) The Commission must treat any information that is the subject of a claim in terms of this Part as confidential until a final determination has been made concerning such information.
- (2) Once a final determination has been made concerning any information, it is confidential only to the extent that the final determination has accepted it to be confidential information.
- (3) For the purposes of this section and section 37, “final determination” means a decision by –
 - (a) the High Court, that in terms of the rules of court may not be appealed, or has not been appealed within the time allowed; or
 - (b) the Supreme Court of Appeal.

37. Restricted use of information

- (1)
 - (a) When making any decision in terms of this Act, the Commission may take confidential information into account in making its decision.

- (2) A party may apply to a High Court, subject to its rules, within the time period contemplated in subsection (1)(b) after receiving a copy of the proposed reasons, for an appropriate order to protect the confidentiality of the relevant information.
